(Channeling begins)

Djwhal Khul here. Tashi Delek.

We are coming to you from another location in Southern Arizona at the moment, Nogales. So what I want to work with here is the vibration of Diversity. Specifically, Diversity has a vibration that is a lot like a jigsaw puzzle. One piece may look odd all by itself and colors do not particularly make any sense but when you put the entire jigsaw puzzle together, what you have is a beautiful image.

When I work with a race consciousness, religious consciousness and all other things of that nature, including sexual preference, etc., what we see when it is all put together in the Divine Creation is a beautiful image.

Diversity has a vibration that to some initially seems discordant. That is because they are looking at one piece of the puzzle, or maybe 3 or 4 pieces of the puzzle, maybe even half of the puzzle done, but not looking at the overall picture. So I invite you to step back, maybe 3 or 4 steps and look at the beautiful image of Creation and see Diversity as this gorgeous vibration of energy that is meant to be.

Literally, like a beautiful jigsaw puzzle picture of some majestic waterfall or a beautiful picturesque scenery and you can see the water is supposed to be there, the trees are supposed to be there, the frogs, the birds, the mountains, the sky, the clouds. As you look at the complete picture, what you find is a vibration that is very harmonious. It is not discordant in any way. So Diversity as a vibration seems coarse or discordant until you step back far enough to see the greater picture, and then it is a very smooth, whole and beautiful vibration.

That is your Spirituality Article information for this particular week and as always, we translate these into French, German and Spanish as well as the English. I hope that you enjoy them very much.

Thank you and my love to you,

Djwhal Khul
