(Channeling begins)

Djwhal Khul here. Tashi Delek.

Alright. Venus is going retrograde in Scorpio, just following a New Moon, and that is how we are starting out this particular week’s cycle in our Spirituality Article information. So we are also on the heels of some very interesting energy. We will occasionally put a Twitter notice out for those of you who want to get the short little updates frequently, every day or so. It's Twitter/DKupdate, www.twitter.com/DKupdate.

The frequencies have been such that they are drawing one in deeper. They also allow for much deeper communication in all kinds of relationships. And then between the New Moon energies and then the Venus retrograde, we are going to be seeing some very, I want to say, interesting, fine tuning. It could get a little choppy between the masculine and the feminine.

But you also have the opportunity to draw forth a tremendous healing of that Scorpio energy for the feminine empowerment, with the Venus in retrograde moving apparently backwards, kind of walking back, "Now wait a second. Let me review. How have I been in my own feminine side? How has feminine power been utilized on the planet, in the family unit, in the government roles, etc.? What about Mother Earth feminine aspect?"

So this is a very empowering time for the feminine and it stays retrograde until November 18. We have election day coming and you'll see me giving updates weekly here and also a little bit more frequently on twitter.

And if you don't yet have the forecast for this Quarter, you might want to get that. The transcript is available on the website now: "2010-Fourth Quarter Forecast". Or you can get the audio but the transcript is easier to follow.

The potential for war is still strong, so I am calling out to the light workers to really empower your own inner feminine. Make it your mission to just radiate Feminine Love, Motherly Love towards all of Creation, or unconditional Love for all sentient beings. Just want to be a kind of light bulb that radiates a Love vibration during this time period. And the more that practice that, I think, the better the world will be.

As always, thank you and my love to you,

Djwhal Khul
