And here is Djwhal Khul's latest Spirituality Article, information complimentary every Thursday:

(Channeling begins)

Djwhal Khul here. Tashi Delek.

Now I have been working for quite some time with Humanity with a number of channels and mediums and silent channeling, inspiration for reading materials, architecture, etc. leading into this New Age of Aquarius and preparing Humanity for changes to the Earth, acceleration of spiritual growth, changing the way that relationships are conducted on the physical plane, from, you know, hatred and violence toward Love and Peace.

We have now just sort of passed a very sacred and interesting day, October 10, 2010, so it's 10-10-10. The vibrations technically add up, if you include the 2010, to the number 5 which catalyzes changes.

We have the magnetics upon the planet changing and we have the Sun putting out more solar wind, charged particles, etc. We have a focus of a Teleseminar on harmonizing with those charged particles so that you are not in conflict with what is naturally happening in your solar system and through the Universe. It's a universal occurrence that's happening here.

With regards to magnetics, I want to talk a little bit about that because it is one of the remedies for this time period, when properly used. Now hematite is naturally magnetic, a sort of grayish black stone. You may find that wearing a hematite bracelet on your left wrist helps you during this time period, that's because that is your negative polarity or your receiving energy in the spiritual way.

You might also find if you've reversed circuits that it feels better on the right wrist, which means get your circuits back in the way they are supposed to be; that is probably from a trauma or something, and then wear it on the left side. Some of you will be able to wear magnetic type necklaces or other type bracelets. I would go with the natural stones whenever possible.

I would caution against using magnets on the soles of the feet all day long or sleeping on magnetic pads or driving a vehicle long distances on magnets. The design to have it specifically placed on a certain place on the body, usually around the neck or maybe dangling toward the solar plexus or on the left wrist is good or placing magnets where there is pain for about 20 minutes is good.

If you tend to pretty much live with a bunch of magnets against your field, what happens is that it alters the brain. It causes a loss of sense of direction "Where is magnetic North?" and we're already having enough trouble with memories getting erased, particularly short term memories, because of the change in the magnetics, so I would not add to the issue of magnetic erasures. So be careful about overusing magnets please.

And the soles of the feet, if you want to use something magnetic, no more than 20 minutes per day. Perhaps just in the arches of the feet, not the whole sole of the foot.

Alright. As always, thank you and my love to you,

Djwhal Khul
