To all my friends in the USA, Happy Memorial Weekend!

And here is Djwhal Khul's latest Spirituality Article, information complimentary every Thursday: (Channeling begins)

Djwhal Khul here. Tashi Delek.

Alright. I want to focus on the Mercury retrograde influence that we have now and then the energies of a holiday weekend in the US although many of the students live in other countries.

But basically the memorial type energy of remembering loved ones perhaps or appreciating the military or maybe you don't appreciate the military because you're focused on peace. Still I want to put that energy in there of staying focused on peace and appreciating service in general. And then also those who nobly served and are still alive as well as loved ones and whomever might be on the other side.

So this is a time to reflect upon things and people that you are grateful for, just energetically anyway and then that memorial weekend influence is sort of slowed down by the Mercury retrograde but then there is also a lot of high psychic activity.

So just a little reminder then to pull in Vywamus as a teacher to work with your energy fields and to set up protection and I'm going to say, and there's also some Jewish holidays going on, and a few other things. Sun moving into Gemini. There can be a tendency to sort of paddle back and forth with beliefs, like teeter-totter, "I believe in this, no I don't. Yes I do. No I don't."

So for people who tend to teeter, give them a lot of space so that they can think on their own about it and many lightworkers may feel the need to actually retreat, like engross themselves into an organizing project with no interruptions or writing with no interruptions, editing with no interruptions. So keep in mind that that is a possibility as well.

Alright Dear Ones. As always, thank you and my love to you.
